Theme of the Workshop

'Education brings about the holistic development of an individual' - says the famous philosopher Aristotle. Today education has developed quantitatively but instead of holistic development of our students, modern education is laying emphasis only on one aspect of growth and that is getting good marks and subsequently a good job with handsome salary. In the mad pursuit of materialism the multiple aspects of education are being ignored by our teachers and our students in which personality development and character building hold the mainstay. It is a matter of serious concern that tolerance of failure, a positive attitude towards life, politeness and patience are getting depleted among the youth and this is going to exert serious repercussions in the near future.

This 2-day workshop is a small step in this context whereby our educational institutions need to gear up and bear the responsibility to provide right direction to our youth. In contemporary scenario, this topic is highly crucial and relevant.

The Two day workshop will have Eight sessions in which experts from related subjects will deliver their talks. The delegates will be given opportunity to interact with the experts on various queries related to Personality Development. This workshop will be highly resourceful and beneficial for delegates.
